After a long day greeting new and returning students, Mr. Jack Hobin, Mr. Noel Leary, and President Carol Leary enjoy the antics of comedian Buzz Sutherland.

Change Plays An Important Role

Bay Path College is always in a constant state of change. Every year there are new students, new faculty, and new administration, new clubs, new academic programs, and new buildings. The Bay Path community finds it hard to measure the changes when they occur so gradual. While some of the changes have been more notable, such as construction of buildings; less noted changes have also occurred, such as a shy student becoming more outgoing.

The only way for one to recognize all of the changes, would be to watch the year unfold through a window. The college has such a window, the portico. The portico is the half window found in many buildings on campus and is one of very few features that remains untouched. The Portico is also the yearbook, which plays the part of a silent observer. It not only captures moments of

I now know that I can do more than I thought I could back in August. Since coming to Bay Path, I've learned that I am no longer stuck behind a screen of doubt and insecurity. I find myself going into more projects with a stronger faith in myself than I did in high school.

change, it can also provide information on before and after. In the first months of the 2001-2002 academic year, new clubs were created, students who hardly spoke are making themselves heard, faculty members and administration are making new differences, and buildings have been given new looks.

Students are learning that change is an integral piece, they can make improvements on the past and they can be learning experiences for the future. Students are also learning that true growth does not occur unless one takes a moment to reflect on what was, what is at the moment, and what can be.

Letter from the President

Successful leaders have the courage to take action where others hesitate.

Author Unknown

Your years at Bay Path College have been a time of learning and exploration. Guided by faculty and staff, you have grown as a person- gaining confidence, developing a sense of purpose, and finding a career or professional direction. In the years to come, you can take pride in knowing that you are a member of a elite rank of graduates- graduates from a women's college.

Your education at Bay Path has prepared you for many things, but there is one critical skill that will distinguish you in your profession, community, and personal life- leadership. Leadership doesn't just imply being first or at the top...it's much broader in the meaning: inspiring and motivating others, being a role model, and realizing the responsibility you have to the world around you. Whether you have been a member of an athletic team, club, or organization, volunteered for a fund-raising event, or joined a study group, know that you have been developing your leadership strengths. Never forsake those qualities that make women leaders unique and valued: a strong nurturing ethic, a view of work that is based on relationships and personal connections, a reliance on open communication that includes listening, and a style of management that is participatory and empowering.

We are living in challenging times. We have seen greatness from unlikely heroes in unexpected situations. Your leadership skills will give you the courage and the inner strength to overcome diversity, and they will be your foundation to do remarkable things.

Above all, use your leadership skills by being part of the Bay path legacy and by inspiring fellow graduates, current students and future students. Take a leadership role in the Alumni Association and see the difference you can make. And remember this one constant...you will always be part of the Bay Path community. On behalf of all of us here at Bay Path, we extend our support and best wishes in the path that now extends before you.

Ours,

Carol A. Leary

Letter from the Editor

The 2002 edition of the PORTICO is proof that the combined efforts of many is needed to complete any project. Beginning at the end of last year, we worked hard to bring the image in our minds to something we could hold in our hands.

While there are several people I need to thank for their dedication and all of them deserve equal praise, I have to begin with the wonderful staff with whom I had the pleasure to work. Thank you Becca, Brandi, Jen, Karyn, Lizz, Melissa, Natasha, Pauline, and Sara for giving everything that you could. I would also like to thank Chris Conley for walking around campus to find missing details needed to complete captions. Thank you Ms. Christine Butler and Mr. Michael Feeley for being heroes and coming to our aid immediately. Thank you Coach Steve Smith for all of your assistance with the sports section. Thank you Ms. Susan Sliwa for your dedication to detail and helping us make this as close to perfect as possible. Nothing would be possible without our wonderful Jostens representative Matt Fenn, who was a constant source of support and great ideas. And a special thank you to Dean Conrad and Professor Hardin for being wonderful advisors and there whenever needed.

On behalf of the staff, I hope that you enjoy the yearbook as much as we enjoyed putting it together.

Sara E. Pleva

Dedication

Over the past four years the Class of 2002 has been fortunate to have many opportunities to participate in events such as the Basketball Hall of Fame Induction Ceremony, The Bright Nights Ball, and The Women's Professional Development Conference. These opportunities have given us the chance to meet and hear speakers of fame and distinction and to attend programs that have enriched and complimented the classroom experience.

Some of us in the Class of 2002 have also had the chance to attend the Women's Professional Development Conference during all four years at the College. As lower division students, we served as volunteers for the conference. In our senior year, as part of our Career Development Seminar, we were guests at the 2002 conference and were able to join over 800 professional women for a day of networking, career development, and fun. We heard outstanding speakers such as financial advisor and columnist Jane Bryant Quinn and chief foreign affairs correspondent for NBC news, Andrea Mitchell.

The Women's Professional Development Conference were highlights but were just one of the many outstanding events we have enjoyed during our time at Bay Path. Others featured the author Anita Shreve, comedian and motivational speaker Loretta LaRoche and leadership consultant Nancy Denney.

The individual responsible for the vision and direction of these student development programs is Caron Hobin, Vice President of Planning and Student Development. Vice President Hobin shows her enthusiasm, devotion, and caring for us by her tireless work. She seeks student input and advice on planning and development of many student programs, such as orientation, campus activities, and residence hall life. She makes herself accessible to us 24/7 and is always a source of constant support in all of our educational endeavors. Vice President Hobin always goes the extra mile for the students by being an active participant in Campus Days, Resident Hall Assistant parties, and the Galas.

This year, joined by her husband Jack, Vice President Hobin has taken on yet another challenge- that of advising the international students and the Women of Culture Organization. She helped create a special program for international students, placing new international students with Host Families upon their arrival at the College. These connections have helped international students with their transition from their home countries to Bay Path College and life in America.

We, the Class of 2002, dedicate this edition of the PORTICO to Caron Hobin, Vice President of Planning and Student Development, with out appreciation, affection, and gratitude.

Students Enjoy Special Events

View From the Portico

Student activities are considered to be one of the most important aspects of life on Bay Path Campus. For a small college, there are an overabundance of events for students to attend. What is often considered to be one of the greatest advantages of BPC is the fact that nearly all of the activities are organized by students. Through clubs and organizations, students diligently work together to events as perfect as possible. While the theme of an event may change year from year, the hard work of the students never wavers.

Student Leaders Arrive Early For Training

Resident Assistants and Student Leaders were invited to attend a leadership training, which took place three days before the opening day of school. Students listened to several presentations by speakers, such as Vice President Hobin, Dr. Sipple, and Brenda Wishart. The three administrators are well known on campus and gave inspirational speeches on dealing with anger, the importance of communication, and being a leader. Leaders also received training on networking and fund-raising, both of which are skills that the leaders will utilize during the year. RAs attended special sessions with Dean Conrad and Wendy Weiss. Dean Conrad and Wendy provided the RAs with information they would need working in the dorms. The days of training were long and rigorous.

On the last day, the destination of the mystery trip was revealed to students. The student leaders took full advantage of the trip to the movie theatre as a way to relax before the rest of the students moved into the dorms and classes began.

Laughing as they bond, Brandi Lefler and Jennifer Pudder oversee the construction of an underwater puzzle. The activity, ran by the new Resident Directors of Bollum Hall Matt and Kim LaBlanc, was to emphasize the need for working together.

After a summer full of planning and calculating, Dean Conrad and Aryu Sunyoto present the 2001-2002 school year calendar. Students find the calendar very useful since it has all of the information regarding the activities for the year.

After two days of rigorous training, the RAs and student leaders prepare to leave for the mystery trip. Everyone was excited when they found out they were off to the movies. Students were able to see the movie of their choice.

Before the madness of opening day begins, Kristyn Harvey and Dean Conrad pose for a quick picture. Kristyn is a sophomore and eager for the year to begin. As a student active with campus activities, Kristyn will work closely with Dean Conrad throughout the year.

During a free moment of leadership training, resident director Tracy Gomes relaxes with student leaders Jennifer Simpson, Michelle O'Toole, Brandi Lefler, and Ruby Archer. Jennifer, Michelle, and Brandi are also RAs.

Freshmen and student leaders participated in several fun activities designed to introduce students to each other lead by Steve Rosen from PlayFair Ice Breakers.

With an uncanny resemblance, Natasha Ali impersonates Dean Conrad during the welcome skits. Dean Conrad is notorious on campus for her camera, flashy ensembles, and her love of public speaking. Hail to the dean, the very pink dean!

Student leaders Emily Batch, Taunya Gray, and Brandi Gilbert sit in the hot sun, passing out schedules and mail box keys to all new and returning students.

Opening Day Full Of Activities

September 9, 2001 was a day of many hellos and just as many good-byes for the freshmen as parents moved their daughters onto Bay Path Campus. Opening day was hectic for both students and parents. While returning students reminisced with old friends, the freshmen participated in many organized activities giving them a chance to become familiar with the campus and their new classmates before they had the chance to move in. After a full morning of carrying belongings into dorm rooms, students sat through a financial aid meeting as well as a welcoming by the students leaders. By late afternoon, it was "PlayFair" which pulled freshmen together, allowing them to get to know one another. The hectic afternoon drew to a close as families dried their eyes and returned home for the first time without their daughters.

During the skits, sophomores and roommates, Machiko Fuji from Japan and Janeshi Amarasinghe from Sri Lanka smile as they enjoy each other's company and the show.

President Leary played the part of a tourist invited on stage to introduce the Wildcat Show, which mimics real TV shows. When she was done, the Wildcat ran out to praise her on a job well done.

Taking a break, sophomore Julie Ouellett relaxes for a quick moment before she finishes carrying everything she needs in her dorm room for the year. After she finishes bringing everything in, she has to begin the fun task of unpacking.

Opening Day Continues Into The Evening

After a grueling day of moving in, placement tests, and icebreakers, freshmen began their first night at Bay Path College. The night fun began with a talk show put on by the student leaders. In an effort to make freshmen more at ease about their impending stay at Bay Path, student leaders covered a variety of topics in their skits. They played out issues dealing with campus life, roommates, friends, security, time budgeting, and had a little fun exploring dining hall rules. Following the skits, comedian Buzz Sutherland eased the days stress with impressions and jokes. The day was still not over after the hour of comedy. Students returned to their dorms for dorm and floor meetings and then spent time getting to know their roommate better.

Go Wildcats! Deborah Harris as Bay Path's Wildcat and the rest of the student leaders got the BPC Community riled up on opening night with the informative and entertaining skits.

Bay Path students spent most of opening night laughing at the entertaining skits performed by students and the humorous antics of stand up comedian Buzz Sutherland.

As part of meeting students request, the student activities office has arranged for several comedians to come to campus, such as Buzz Sutherland, who kept opening night moving with his wit and jokes.

Adorned with balloons, the Bay Path welcome sign greets new students on a hot September 9, 2001.

Caught red handed! Demonstrating the fine art of swiping trays and utensils from the dining hall, senior leaders Courtney Greening and Nicki Krajewski's skit sets an example on what not to do.

Resident Assistants Jen Pudder and Aymanie Litchfield look amused as they hand students their room keys at the registration table in front of Wright Hall.

Smile! Cyndrea Craig, Jesslie Garcia, Kate Recker, Lindsey Olier, Kattie Cordeiro, and Isatu Sesay pose for a group picture on Campus Day. Several of the girls on campus decorated their own shirts as part of a contest.

Hula dancers SAB President Chris Conley and Secretary Katy Wolfram began advertising for Campus Day on opening day, more than two weeks in advance. The women of Student Activities Board also sold Campus Day t-shirts, a tradition at Bay Path College. After four years, a student can collect up to eight Campus Day shirts.

Student Activities Board member, Betsy McCourt and the rest of her team are full of determination during the fun tug-of-war challenge. The tug-of-war is another tradition at Bay Path Campus Day, where the upperclassmen challenge the underclassmen and the staff challenge the faculty. All of the other activities, such as the carnival games, the "Clown Bouncer," and henna tattoos came to a standstill so everyone had the chance to participate and watch.

Students Enjoy A Day Of Activities

All afternoon classes were cancelled for an afternoon dose of Hawaii when Bay Path College held its annual fall Campus Day on the lawn in front of Deepwood. Even before the school year began, Student Activities Board was planning the events that filled the afternoon. Several SAB members began advertising Fall Campus Day on Opening Day of 2001 by selling t-shirts to new and returning students and their families. They also immediately hung posters. There was a great effort to advertise BPC Campus Day among other colleges in the area. This year's annual event marked the first time other colleges were invited to attend. The afternoon was a great success with music, hulla, henna tattoos, and lots of games.

Taking advantage of the free activities, Telitha Conway, Kelly McNeish, Kelly Cofell, Tara Conway, and Beth Decelles show off their close friendship with identical henna tattoos on Campus Day.

Kelly Downie and Stephanie Burns take a picture with the largest of the raffle prizes that have ever been available at any Campus Day event. SAB worked hard to come up with new and original ideas for prizes, and they found that the stuffed snakes were a huge hit with the students.

The Limbo Challenge went perfectly with the spirit of the Hawaiian luau theme. The participants were extremely energetic and eager to compete. After a while, only a handful of very flexible people remained and the rest of the community stood in a wide circle watching their antics.

Fathers And Daughters Enjoy An Evening Of Dancing

An annual tradition for Bay Path Students is the Father/Daughter Banquet, which has been held for over 40 years. On September 29, 2001, many students along with their fathers enjoyed a wonderful evening dining and dancing in Blake Dining Hall. Before the banquet began, daughters and fathers had an opportunity to have their picture taken as a keepsake. All of the fathers received a "For Him" kit upon arrival.

A relaxed moment before dinner and dancing: Rebekah Clairmont and Stacy Czarnowski enjoy predinner conversation with their fathers.

Senior Sara Pleva welcomed everyone on behalf of the senior class committee and Student Government President Natasha Ali read a poem and introduced President Leary, who also spoke. After dinner, there were a couple of gifts raffled for the fathers before the dancing began.

Joining several others on the dance floor, Liz Blake and her father enjoy dancing at their last Father/ Daughter Banquet since Liz will be graduating in May.

As the sun begins to set on their last father/daughter banquet, seniors and roommates Lisa Barber and Pauline Gladstone, spend a reflective moment with their fathers.

Happy Birthday Dujlada! For her 21st birthday, Selim Noujaim steadies Dujlada Sukontasap as she stands on a chair while being serenaded by her friends and their fathers at the father/daughter banquet.

At their first Father/Daughter Banquet, freshmen Akilah Brown, Melissa Radner, and Anna Genthner enjoy a full evening of dinner and dancing with their fathers.

Dr. Bill Sipple, Provost and Vice-President of Academic Affairs, detailed new courses and programs made possible by the state of the art technology in D'Amour Hall.

As President of Student Government, Natasha Ali, class of 2002, thanked donors for their contributions.

Dedication of New Technology Building

Over one hundred and twenty invitees came to Bay Path's campus to witness the dedication of D'Amour Hall on October 15, 2001. Bay Path donors, alumni, and trustees celebrated this ceremony with faculty, staff, students, and administration.

The D'Amour Hall for Business, Communication, and Technology houses the Davis Technology Center and MassMutual Multimedia Lab. Thanks to the generosity of Jeanne and Gerald D'Amour, the Irene and George Davis Foundation, and the MassMutual Life Insurance Company, the new technology center features state of the art computers and digital equipment as well as classrooms equipped with the very latest in multimedia resources.

Presided over by President Carol A. Leary, the ceremony included speeches by Mary Jenewin-Caplin, Director of the Office of the Governor; Charlene H. D. Mazer, Chair of Bay Path Board of Trustees; Jeanne D'Amour, and representatives from the Davis family and MassMutual.

Seen from the distance, D'Amour Hall.

The ceremonial ribbon cutting! Jeanne and Gerald D'Amour, surrounded by Mr. Kinam Kim, President Carol A. Leary and Mr. John H. Davis, cut the ribbon and lead the way into the new building. All the visitors were invited to tour the facilities.

Tours included faculty and student presentations in the different rooms. In the MassMutual Multimedia Lab, an enthralled audience of Bay Path alumni and members of the Board of Trustees and the Advisory Committee, watched as a faculty member demonstrated some of the uses of the new technology.

Theatre Brings All That Jazz To Life

"Chicago" is a satire on the legal system. The play is based in the late 1920s in Chicago, Illinois. It is a story of infidelity and murder that was originally shown on Broadway. There was much dedication and time put into this production. Many of the cast and crew played double roles, both on and off the stage. The cast convincingly became their characters and everything flowed nicely. There were no pauses between scenes. The producer, director, and designer of "Chicago", Professor Paul Norton, became ill during production. The choreographer of the show, Li Ciaglo, became the director.

Seniors Nicki Krajewski, Courtney Greening, and Ruby Archer enjoy the success of finishing one of their final plays at Bay Path. "Chicago" is Nicki's sixth show. As Vice President of Theatre Workshop, Nicki worked closely with Courtney, the President. Theatre Workshop will be at a loss at the end of the year when Courtney leaves. She began as a member of the crew for two shows, then became the crew chief for the next two, and for the last six shows was manager. Ruby has been involved in five shows as a dancer and member of the crew.

Taking a moment from working backstage, Courtney Greening, Natasha Ali, Karyn Morrison, and Steven Potvin grab a few props and go in front of the camera!

All veterans of Bay Path College plays, former students Kristin Hardee and Sarah Good are joined by John Woytowicz and Michael McMahon as they take a breather from another long and rigorous rehearsal.

Even though the cast of "Chicago" was large, after working together for six weeks they became very close knit. At the final dress rehearsal, the cast joins together in joy as they have finally worked out all of the kinks.

Kiernan Cone and Dan Derby show no hard feelings even though Kiernan plays adulterous wife Roxie and Dan's character is Amos, her often overlooked and neglected husband.

Foxy ladies! Nicki Krajewski, Maria Medina, Ruby Archer, Cheyenne Simmons, and Jessica Fraga strike an intimate pose, one of many that they have throughout the play.

Paul C. Norton

It was with great sadness that Bay Path College learned of the loss of Paul C. Norton. The Professor of Theatre and Director of the Theatre Department passed away on November 29, 2001 after a brief illness.

A member of the Bay Path College faculty for 35 years, Professor Norton directed all Bay Path musicals since 1969 and also served as producer and designer for many productions. In addition, he served as director of theatre, advisor to Theatre Workshop, and coordinator of dance for The Bay Path Dance Company. As the senior faculty member at the college, he served as Faculty Marshal at Commencements.

On behalf of the student body, Natasha Ali, Class of 2002, expressed their loss:

The Pillsbury doughboy, a huggable teddy bear, larger than life, always ready with a witticism... Paul Norton was all this and more to his students, colleagues, and friends at Bay Path College. Standing at 6'4," with a deep voice and a hearty laugh, he was hard to overlook. Behind the sometimes gruff and imposing exterior was a man of great affection, wisdom, and genius. The dedication, verve, and enthusiasm he displayed in his roles as professor, academic advisor, and theatre director were irresistible. He held us spellbound. On occasion, he would relieve the tedium by lowering his voice theatrically, and beginning a tale: "If the Dean heard me say this..." Out of mishap, mayhem, or even the mundane, he would create illuminating and funny stories. But he was also a great teacher; not just of film or theatre, but of life itself. He inspired abiding loyalty and love in all who knew him and were touched by his unique presence. And though we no longer see the figure of Paul Norton striding around campus, the indomitable and indelible force of his personality has left its mark-forever, in the classroom, in Mills Theatre, and most of all...in our hearts.

Haunted House, Contests, Parties, and Food Keeps Students Busy

October was a busy month for Bay Path College. Students attended a haunted house sponsored by Student Activities Board and the Alliance. Throughout the month there were other activities such as Octoberfest, a hall decorating contest, and a Halloween Party. Many students gathered for a night of scares as Catok was turned into a house filled with dead bodies, cannibalistic chefs, candy, and lots of terror and fun. For one night, Octoberfest took over the dining hall with bratwurst, sauerkraut, decorations, and music. Wright and Bollum Halls got into Halloween with a hall-decorating contest competition. For an hour, each floor tried to make their halls become the ultimate Halloween experience. The winners in the end were 3rd

East of Wright Hall and 2nd Floor of Bollum.

The night after the decorating contest, Bay Path lit up with a Halloween Dance Party in the fireplace lounge. Free food, music, and a costume competition made Halloween a night of fun.

Second West participated in Wright Hall's Floor decorating contest with a twisted fairy tales theme. Hansel prepares for dinner with the witch caged nearby.

Really getting into character, freshman Jessica Clark and junior Carrie Nemec improvise to improve the first haunted house cosponsored by the Alliance and SAB.

Wood Food Company hosted a contest to see who could correctly guess the number of candy corn in the jar. Freshman Sarita Joseph holds the container hoping the weight will give her a better hint as to the amount inside.

Third East may have won the contest in Wright Hall, but the vampire sleeping beauty and dead fairies were definitely memorable for the girls on Second West.

At the Halloween Dance, sponsored by Student Activities Board, sophomore Katy Wolfram shows off her black angel costume.

December Full Of Activities

Students may only spend a small part of December on campus, but it has always been one of the busiest months. Several activities are held on campus to provide a break from studying for finals. Wood Food Services decorated the dining hall for special Winter Wonderland Dinner that was free for all students, faculty, and staff. Wood Food Services also held a gingerbread house contest where students and faculty were able to build and decorate gingerbread houses to compete in several categories. Following a beloved tradition, President Leary and Mr. Noel Leary invited student leaders to their home one evening to trim their two trees

In between two songs, juniors Alison Klojzy and Natalie Winans lead the gathering in a prayer of unity and confession.

One of the most popular events is the Christmas Concert and Candlelight Service presented by Bay Path College Chorale and Chamber singers under the direction of Mr. Charles Page on December 5, 2001. Students, staff, faculty, administration, and members of the Longmeadow Community joined together for the holiday music from around the world. As the audience left Mills Theatre to attend the reception held in the Blake Student Center Dining Room, their candles were lit from the Advent Candle by the ushers.

As the audience entered Mills Theatre, A Christmas Sonata played by senior Nicki Krajewski on recorder accompanied by Mr. Page on piano greeted them.

There were several masterpieces to display after an enjoyable evening of creating and decorating gingerbread houses in Blake Dining Hall.

The thirty five members of chorale met several times a week all semester to prepare for the Candlelight Service and a few other recitals.

Sophomore Irene Simbolon lead chorale members onto the stage as they sang pieces of O Little Town of Bethlehem; Joy to the World; It Came Upon the Midnight Clear; and O Come, All Ye Faithful.

After spending the evening trimming trees and snacking on desserts, President Leary, Mr. Leary, and their guests gathered around the tree to sing carols.

A Wide Variety Of Activities Offered

Bay Path College offers an abundance of activities. Weekends come alive with trips to Boston, New York, and Maine to name a few. There are movies, bonfires, sports games, and social events for all of Bay Path students to attend. A trip to Montreal, Canada or Italy is a way to allow students to get away from campus life and experience a new culture. Student services offers students a way to see the arts as well as other events. It is a great place to find out the arts, too. They offer vouchers for the Springfield Symphony, as well as low cost tickets to City Stage. These various events are a great way to get involved in Bay Path College campus life, meet new people, and quite possibly have a little fun along the way.

At the Maroon Key Ceremony, sophomore Heidi Pero sits with her proud family. As active parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pero spoke about their views of the college at a Open House panel for the parents of prospective students.

Senior Nicki Krajewski and her boyfriend, Jim Hargrave, spend a quiet moment at the bonfire at Farmlea Road on September 15, 2001.

Bay Path students and the school mascot, Wildcat, sit on the bleachers at a home soccer game.

During a weekly RA meeting, Bollum Hall Resident Directors, Matt and Kim LaBlanc and Resident Assistants Colleen Donovan, Grethel Hoozky, and Kristyn Harvey discuss chapters of a book that they found to be a useful resource for their positions.

All classes were cancelled for The Better Grades in Less Time presentation by Gary Conen. He spoke about achieving higher reading speeds while retaining more information, proper brain food, and how a student can achieve anything with the correct motivation.

Priya Varghese and Payal Kapoor hold onto each other on the Boston Duck Tour.

Winter Gala is Unforgettable

Every year Bay Path College holds a semi-formal dance for the students in either the winter or the spring. This year the winter gala was held on December 8, 2001 at the Radisson Hotel in Enfield, CT. Members of student government began working on the details of the gala at the very beginning of the academic year by creating a subcommittee that was responsible for overseeing the details of the gala, such as creating a theme, finding a DJ, working with the hotel staff, and selling tickets. With the assistance of the Radisson Hotel staff, they were able to create an ambiance for "An Unforgettable Night." For several weeks, volunteers sat at a table at lunch and dinner to sell tickets and sign guests up for their choice of chicken, beef, or vegetarian dinner.

Guests thoroughly enjoyed the evening of dancing and fun. The picture frame that was provided as a memento was perfect since they were able to have a formal picture taken by Greniers Photography. One of the highlights that made the evening unforgettable was Vice President Caron Hobin and her husband Mr. Jack Hobin joining the students on the dance floor.

It wasn't just a night for graduating students, several freshmen attend the first of several galas to come.

Senior Occupational Therapy majors, Colleen Donovan and Allison Zotter relish the night away from work and studying

Junior Jamie Zachery makes the most of a night away from her responsibilities as an RA and president of All Women Excel by taking control of the dance floor.

Whether they had a date or went with friends from campus, the girls from Wright Hall, Karyn Morrison, Lisa Barber, Pauline Gladstone, Rebecca Roberts, Natasha Ali, and Dujlada Sukontasap had "An Unforgettable Night."

Braving the cold weather, three dedicated members of the Golden Z Club arrive early at the fields on Farmela Road to sell raffle tickets to friends, family, and alumni during the semifinal soccer games. Golden Z also walked in the Rays of Hope Walkathon the following morning, where they managed to raise over $500 for breast cancer research.

Members of the All Women Excel group sell cookies to grateful spectators at a soccer game on October 27, 2001. The All Women Excel, which was started by Yasmine Anotoine during her senior year in 2000, is responsible for several campus speakers and educational programs about different religions and cultural traditions.

Sports Allow Students to Grow

... and learn teamwork

View From the Portico

Bay Path Athletics is a growing program that allows students to learn how to be confident in themselves and be team players. In the last four years, athletics has grown by leaps and bounds, and there is every sign that it will continue to grow. Students have found that their academics have improved while playing sports because it allows them to learn how to manage their schedules in a more efficient manner.

As Director of the Sullivan Career Development Center, Angela Derouin is extremely active on campus. She holds a position that influences nearly every student at Bay Path. Beginning freshman year, students show up at her office seeking assistance with resume writing and career searches. It is during their last year at Bay Path that Angela becomes extremely important to students as they begin searching for internships, careers, and graduate schools.

A standard fixture on Bay Path Campus, security guard Jerry Shea directs traffic on move in day, one of the busiest days on campus.

Faculty and Staff Retain High Standards

... always striving

View From the Portico

One of the most astounding aspects of Bay Path College is the dedication of the faculty, administration, and staff. Those who teach and those who make the college run smoothly on a daily basis make it a point to make a personal connection with all of the students. When students reach out for assistance, they find support within a whole community. While many of the faces have changed over the years, the one thing that always remains constant is the high standards the faculty, administration, and staff have set for themselves.

Knowing that small classes are one of the great benefits of a small college, senior Sara Pleva takes full advantage of the opportunity to ask Professor Semprebon questions regarding a recent Anatomy and Physiology 2 lecture. Even though Sara is a criminal justice student, she is taking the science course as an elective because her experience in Anatomy and Physiology 1 sparked her interest.

SATURDAY STUDENTS

One day a week makes a hectic schedule

... always adapting

View From the Portico

The Saturday Students have changed the structure of the college and also the schedule of their lives. For what was once a empty campus on the weekend, it is now a busy college on Saturdays. Also, the women who have made the decision to attend classes one day a week for an entire day, have created a need for adjustment throughout their whole lives. Many of the women work six days a week and then attend classes on their days off, only to then have to change their schedules during the week to find time to do homework.

SENIORS & SOPHOMORES

Students and College Change

... always growing

View From the Portico

Bay Path has evolved along with the seniors and sophomores during their years at Bay Path College. Since the seniors were freshmen, male visitation hours have been extended to include male overnights, a new student commons was constructed, new majors have been added, new administration and new faculty members have joined the Bay Path Community. However, the largest change has been within the students themselves. The graduates are now more prepared for leadership positions, communicating with others, and working with the newest technology.

A College Constantly Changing

Here at Bay Path, things are constantly changing. Every year, there are new and exciting happenings: new faces among the students, faculty, and administration; beautiful new buildings; new innovative programs; as well as exciting clubs and organizations. However, there are two things that have remained constant in this ever-changing sea. They both have the same name: Portico. As one walks around the campus, it is hard to miss the fact that all the buildings have porticos, those semicircular windows invented by the Italian Renaissance architect, Andrea Poletti. Despite massive renovations or the building of completely new structures, Bay Path has always kept its portico windows.

Jelena Brigida and Dean Conrad get connected at the international student orientation where a ball of yarn was all it took to establish the connection between all the countries of the world.

The other Portico is the yearbook, the faithful chronicle of the multitude of changes on the campus. The Portico features pictures of the new students who just arrived, the students who will be leaving soon, the new buildings and every other aspect of life on campus. The windows make a lasting impression on the students and the yearbook is a testament to the lasting impressions the students make on Bay Path.

After a long year of creativity and hard work, Dr. John Jarvis celebrates an award for his original children's French puppet show with two members of his student team, puppeteer Natasha Ali and camera woman Dujlada Sukontasap.

Melissa,

These twenty-one years have flown by and you have grown into a beautiful young woman full of energy, determination and enthusiasm. Remember how much we love you and how very proud we are of you. Work hard, enjoy the good times and learn from the bad. Know that we will always be here for you. "AND WHEN YOU GET THE CHANCE TO SIT IT OUT OR DANCE, WE HOPE YOU DANCE."

All our Love, Mom, Dad, and Taryn

Jennifer Kaczynski

Jennifer,

Though your road hasn't been easy, you never gave up. You've shown you have persistence, lots of spirit, lots of heart. You have shown what you are made of, and know what you can do. You will be an asset to your profession. I can't tell you how proud your family is of you. May God Bless and keep you . . . May he shine his light upon you . . . now and always . . . (E.L.P. this one's for you).

Love, Dad, Mom, Jessica, & Co.

CONGRATULATIONS

Rebecca,
For 21 years, I have watched you grow from a shy little girl to the confident young woman you are today. Be proud of all the accomplishments you have made, the goals you have reached, and the path in life you have chosen- to teach young children. I hope your life will bring you as much joy and happiness as you have given me. I am very proud of you.

Love, Mom

Dana Elizabeth Hickman

You are all that anyone could ask for in a daughter- bright, independent, loving, funny, and beautiful inside and out. We are so proud of your accomplishments at Bay Path College. You will always be our "Morning Star."

Build me a daughter

*Strong enough to know when she is weak,
Brave enough to face herself when she is afraid,
Proud and unbending in honest defeat,
Humble and gentle in victory.*

Build me a daughter,

*Whose heart will be clear, whose goals will be high,
Who will master herself before she seeks to master others,
Who will learn to laugh, yet never forget how to weep,
Who will reach into the future . . .*

Yet never forget the past.

(Author unknown)

Congratulations, Becky and the Class of 2002! We love you and are so proud of all the successes and failures, laughter and tears, and strengths and weaknesses that have turned you into such beautiful young women.

May God bless you always.

Thank you, Bay Path, for the memories. We'll miss you!

In Friendship and Gratitude,

The Noujaim Family

“AS TIME GOES BY”

Life isn't a destination, it's a journey. We all come upon unexpected curves and turning points, mountain tops and valleys. Everything that happens to us shapes who we are becoming; and in the adventure of each day, we discover the best in ourselves. You have met life's challenges with confidence, strength, and courage. You are a parent's dream; determined, motivated, a woman of substance. Hard work and due diligence have given you the rewards you so deserve. The future is yours to build upon and make a difference.

With our love always, Mom, Dad, and Mac.
